Java is a programming language whose primary purpose is in writing business plans.